INFORMATION RE COMMUNITY BIRTH PROGRAM FOR PROVIDERS

We are excited to announce a new program for your pregnant patients. Women now have the option of continuing their prenatal care and delivery through the Community Birth Program, a collaborative program initiative between Midwifery and Family Medicine. Women have the opportunity to receive their care close to home, and to be delivered by a care provider with whom they have established a relationship, at Women’s Hospital. Newborn care will also be provided postpartum and the moms will be encouraged to bring their babies back to their regular provider.

The clinic will be held on Monday mornings at Kildonan Medical Centre and will be staffed by Midwife Elizabeth Dolin, and Dr. Larry Reynolds, a family physician who specializes in low risk obstetrics. They will work collaboratively to provide prenatal, intrapartum, and postpartum care to pregnant women. Both providers have many years of experience delivering babies and have worked together at Women’s Hospital. Their goal is to provide woman centred care that is inclusive and respectful.

Attached are 2 documents: 1) an information sheet for prospective patients

2) a Q and A document for your information
